Cleanroom technology places high demands on air quality to protect people, production processes and the environment.

Our vent-captors are ideal for monitoring supply air, exhaust air and circulating air flows.

The use of vent-captors also ensures control of filter contamination.