

flow-captor 4120.13M S220 Ex

Mining is one of the harshest environments in which sensors are installed. On the picture above, a flow-captor in robust stainless steel design is installed on a coal cutting machine.

The sensor monitors the water supply for spraying the coal wall. The irrigation of the coal wall should prevent a dust explosion.