

flow-captor 4320.13/18 S160

Several flow sensors are installed in different cooling lines inside the transmitter housing and thus serve to monitor the cooling circuits of the power electronics.

Our "inline" flow-captors are used due to the system's small pipe diameters.